Parker Carroll Only Missed Walker's Record by 15 Yards.

The advertising contest staged by A. M. Waldrop & Co. last week advertising their Walkover shoes was won by Parker Carroll of this city, who missed the correct distance fifteen yards, his guess being 4 miles, 1,058 yards and 1 foot, and the correct answer was 4 miles, 1,073 yards and 1 foot. The firm offered a pair of shoes to the one who guessed nearest the correct distance walked in six days, twelve hours per day, by the Walkover man around the globe, which was on display in their window during the past week. There were several others who came near the correct mark, and to show the closeness of the contest the first five answers and the guessers are given as follows:

Parker Carroll, 4 miles, 1,058 yards, 1 foot; Frank Rucht, 4 miles, 1,055 yards; J. L. Cobb, 4 miles, 1,090 yards, 2 feet; G. S. Fraps, 4 miles, 1,091 yards; T. E. Hanson, 4 miles, 1,050 yards.

The diameter of the globe was 17 3/4 inches, and the correct circumference 56 11-32 inches.
